Dear Paul,

I told Alison I would assess the situation when I was in Gallatin, which I did. I had already seen your complaint about Chris before my visit so I wanted to meet with Chris to also get his side of the story.

The strong impression I came away with after talking to Chris is that, far from being prejudiced against you, he cares about you and wants to help you continue with your job in a professional and responsible manner. Based on my discussions with him I was satisfied that it is certainly not his intent, in word or deed, to do anything but help ensure you are and remain a capable and dependable employee.

Sincerest regards,
Jeff
